

My aim when teaching is to help my pupils understand their swing better and how best to improve it. Because golfers' swings differ, I tailor each lesson to suit the individual whether they are a complete beginner, a weekend player wanting to maintain their handicap or a keen low handicap golfer looking to improve their golf further.

The High Peak's excellent weather proof practice facilities at Peak Practice Golf Driving Range is a perfect place for beginners to learn and for established golfers to practice their swing off the course. The private teaching booth is a great place for me to analyse golf swings in detail. The Gasp computer software that I use allows me to slow down, freeze and compare swings to top tour pro's and is also a visual aid for my clients .

After learning the basics of the golf swing at Peak Practice Golf Driving Range Buxton's Cavendish Golf Club, one of Derbyshire's top golf courses offers the perfect upward transition towards playing a round of golf. It has all the short game practice facilities required to make your first round on the golf course an enjoyable experience

Both of the above facilities are based in Buxton, North Derbyshire, which are easily accessible from Derbyshire, Manchester, Cheshire and Staffordshire.

I carry out coaching sessions at the local schools using Tri Golf which introduces golf to children of all ages. Group lessons are then offered at the Cavendish Golf Club where children are taught the basics of the swing whilst the children who have already got to a good standard are taught using the video analysis equipment at Peak Practice Driving Range. Many of these children progress to take the game further by enlisting as Junior Members of the local golf clubs along with regular visits to Peak Practice Golf Driving Range to practice and improve their swing.
